

Editorial

As Editor In Chief I am delighted to be able to pen this editorial for the very first edition (volume 1, no. November 2013) of the International Journal of Clinical Psychiatry in Mental Health. The response to the call for papers has been most gratifying and the range of papers in this first edition are an indication of the breadth of the sort of work which we envisage publishing in future editions.

There is a paper on the quality of life in people with fibromyalgia and four papers on which focus particularly on the mental health of young people. Gratifyingly these come from various countries including Canada, China and Serbia and this reflects the international reach of our Journal.

I am confident that the readership will appreciate the opportunity to understand some of these important issues pertaining to the mental health of people across the globe and will encourage them to submit their work for publication in our Journal.

I thank the editorial team and the reviewers and the publications team for their hard work in bringing this first edition to fruition.

Yours sincerely,
