

Editorial

Now, Journal of Advanced Biotechnology and Bioengineering (JABB) from Synergy Publishers is three years old. Welcome to JABB again!

As we know, JABB is an international research journal, which publishes top-level and original research articles from all areas related to biotechnology and bioengineering. Areas and subareas of interest include (but are not limited to) environmental biotechnology, food biotechnology, biosensors, plant-cell biotechnology, biochemical engineering, biochemistry, microbiology, protein chemistry, cytology, neurobiology, neurosciences, genetic engineering, microbial biotechnology, animal biotechnology, marine biotechnology, biocatalysis & biotransformation, metabolic, engineering and more. JABB provides a forum that will be essential reading for all the scientific communities working at the biotechnology and bioengineering.

For all of your supports, JABB grew up gradually. It has been indexed in thirteen indexed systems such as Scientific Indexing Services, Eurasian Scientific Journal Index (ESJI), Science Library Index, Scientific World Index, OA-Library, Chemical Abstracts Service (CAS), Google Scholar, and so on. We are ahead to submit the article in scopus and Pubmed next year.

After completion of three years of publication, the last issue of JABB will be finalized for the readers. The last issue will be also made freely available to all readers via the website-<http://www.synergypublishers.com/journal-of-advanced-biotechnology-and-bioengineering>. Free online institutional access to all content will be available following a simple registration process.

In this issue we demonstrate our commitment to publishing high-impact and multidisciplinary research of the high quality covering all aspects of the biotechnology and bioengineering. We are committed to developing and taking forward biotechnology and bioengineering so that the journal fully meets the aspirations of the broad research communities we serve. We specially hope you enjoy this issue. Do make sure you stay in touch with the exciting research published in JABB.

Finally, we believe we can make our great efforts and do our best for the readers in the future. We would like to give our many thanks to all the people who support us from all the fields for three years!

With our best wishes,

Zhiwn Han,
(Editors-in-Chief)